

WILL VS GOING TO

ENGLISH WITH TANIA

SIMPLE FUTURE HAS TWO DIFFERENT FORMS IN ENGLISH:

"WILL" AND "BE GOING TO"

BOTH REFER TO A SPECIFIC TIME IN THE FUTURE

WILL

Nominal :

Subject + will + be + complement.

- He will be there.

Verbal :

Subject + will + Verb 1

- He will visit his family.

GOING TO

Subject + is/am/are + going to + complement.

- I am going to visit my family next month.
- They are going to see their parents this weekend.
- He is going to visit his family next month.

Will vs Going to

Will

Rapid Decision

- I'm thirsty. I think I will buy a coffee.

Offer

- That looks heavy. I will help you.

Promise

- Don't worry, I won't tell anyone.

Threat

- If you lie to me, I will go.

Refusal

- She won't listen to me.

Prediction

- I think it will rain. Don't forget to bring your raincoat.

Going to

Prion Plan

- I'm going to Blue Mountains next weekend with my family.

Evidence/ Signs

- I ate much chocolate and I'm going to throw up.
- The score is 20 vs 8. They're going to win this basketball competition.

Prediction

- I think it is going to rain. Don't forget to bring your raincoat.

T

Treasure and beauty will disappear in a few seasons, but creativity and skill will stick in our life forever.

